TO ADVERTISERS.

MR. MERCHANT, the public has been harangued too long. Its ears are jangling, its eyes are weary with following wild gestures of inexperienced, amateur adv. writers. Its intelligence has been insulted too often, its credulity stretched too far. Reader's turn with relief to my low-voiced, moderate, non-exaggerated advertisements, booklets, circulars, business letters, etc., because they appeal to reason. The public weighs words carefully, and the balance swings toward the more solid ones. Let me show you the "difference" in advertising. Terms reasonable. George M. Zellmer, care of Kingston Freeman.

DIAZ FOLLOWING HATCHING PLOTS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Vera Cruz, May 15.—The prospect of the speedy fall of General Huerta, now that the Constitutionalists have taken Tampico, has resulted in a number of rebel movements which are being hatched here. These indicate nothing so strongly as the fact that disturbances in Mexico will not end with the Constitutionalists in control of the central government in Mexico City.

Little knots of politicians are gathered in every cafe speaking in whispers of secret juntas and hidden headquarters of revolutionary activity. The latest movement is a revival of the Felix Diaz propaganda. Diaz, who is believed to be in the United States at present, has taken no part in the Constitutionalist move nor has he given it any sympathy. Consequently he is not looked upon as a friend by either Venustiano Carranza nor General Villa. Diaz belongs to a group, less conservative than the faction of Huerta, but more so than the Constitutionalists.

His name is the one most frequently heard in the revolutionary gossip which has followed the fall of Tampico.

The most influential supporters of Diaz were exiled or jailed by Huerta, but they are expected to return now that Huerta's end seems very near. In fact there are many who think that Huerta will be a tenant of the National Palace less than a week longer.

The political situation in Mexico is more interesting, yet more complicated than it has been at any previous time. The Constitutionalists now practically control all of the republic north of the capital with the exception of two or three cities and are ready now to open operations in the southern tier of states.

Huerta is hanging on with a grim death-like grasp to the little power that remains to him.

Zapata is foraging and looting and killing in the name of "patriotism" in the state of Morelos and neighboring states.

The Constitutionalists claim to stand for the same principles as Madero, but they are termed brigands by the Huertistas. On the other hand the Constitutionalists charge the supporters of Huerta stand for feudalism and graft. The Zapatistas seem to have no principles at all.

A dapper, secretive Mexican came here from the capital last night and held a long conference with General Dehesa, former governor of the state of Vera Cruz. He described himself as the private secretary to Rodolfo Reyes, former minister of justice, and a member of the combination that overthrew Madero. Senor Dehesa is a Mexican of the old school and governor of this state during the presidency of Porfirio Diaz.

It was reported that they had arranged a secret code with pass words and signals, but today neither would talk of the conclave.

This was but one indication of the growth of fresh revolutionary feeling. Fears are being aroused that Mexico may come into the same category as the Central American states and some of the South American states where changes of government are common occurrence and the spirit of revolution always simmers.

Word from Tampico says that the Constitutionalists are trying to make a good impression upon the foreign powers, especially the United States, by maintenance of order in that battle-scared city.

General Gonzales has established a military police force and the city is being cleaned up.

The wounded soldiers are being treated in hospitals.

Guards have been established around the oil properties of American and British capitalists.

The fire which was caused by the rebel artillery, did slight damage.

Gen. Gonzales issued a manifesto to the people of Tampico, asking them to resume normal business affairs, assuring them that they would be protected.

Gen. Zaragoza is now believed to have escaped to the gunboat Zaragoza, which was lying in Panuco river during the battle. Together with the Vera Cruz and the Bravo the Zaragoza passed down to the mouth of the river when the Federal retreat began.

Another message reported Gen. Zaragoza as being on a train bound for San Luis Potosi with a few of his troops.

Practically all of the dead have been buried, except the corpses of soldiers who were shot down in the brush and swamps along the Panuco and Tamos rivers west of the city.

A detachment of Constitutionalists are cleaning up the debris left by the destruction of [illegible]-Federal ammunition depots, which were blown up just as the troops evacuated.

Although there was some looting, it was said that the period immediately following the capture of Tampico was more orderly than that after the taking of Torreon and Gomez Palacio. Villa sent word to his officers to repeal the rule giving their troops 48 hours for license and pillage and to shoot any who disobeyed orders.

Gen. Cabellero, one of the Constitutionalist leaders, said that martial law would not be proclaimed unless it became absolutely necessary. He also said that the custom house would be opened today.

Gen. Carranza is contemplating making Tampico the provisional capital and to order large supplies of arms and ammunition to be consigned there from the United States. However, this may be rendered impossible by a blockade of the harbor by the three Mexican gunboats Zaragoza, Vera Cruz and Bravo.

However, even if Huerta does order a blockade, the Constitutionalists have plenty of money and there are always daring men to engage in blockade running if the pay is big.

Constitutionalist scouts have been sent south to ascertain the strength of the Federal army in front of Vera Cruz, commanded by Generals Navarette and Pena Garcia. It is possible that there may be a battle almost at the American outposts.

Other Constitutionalists are being deployed between Mexico City and Cordoba to prevent Huerta's flight to that city or to Puerto Mexico.

Senor Emilio Rabasa, chairman of the committee of representatives appointed by General Huerta to attend the conference with the A. B. C. mediators at Niagara Falls, Ontario.

Arson Squad Burns Pavilion.

London, May 15.—The arson squad of the militant suffragettes today burned the large cricket pavilion of the Oratory School at Edgerton. # SERIOUS BREAK IN ERIE CANAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Utica, N. Y., May 15.—A serious break in the Erie canal at Durhamville, 27 miles west of this city, threatens to delay for several weeks the opening of traffic on the 60 mile level between Utica and Syracuse. The canal was scheduled to open today.

The people of Durhamville turned out and helped the state employes in trying to stop the flow of water by dumping bales of hay, of which over 200 were used, 200 sacks of bran, weighing 200 pounds a piece, and a like number of sacks filled with sand into a breach. All of the gates along the level were ordered opened to reduce the pressure at the break.

Miss Riseley has been prominent on all the committees of her class, has had a class in the civic service house for the last two years, and took the leading part in the play "For Bonnie Prince Charlie," presented by her class during commencement week. # FEDERAL WOUNDED RECEIVE NO CARE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Vera Cruz, May 15.—President Huerta's dictatorship is drawing to a stormy and tragic close. Reports received here state that the Federal troops at Piedada Barracks, only a short distance from the center of the city, have mutinied and that the rebels under Ben. Zapata have attacked Huerta's troops at Tlalpam, only twelve miles from the National Palace.

These reports indicate that the dictator may fall even before the Constitutionalists bring their artillery to bear on the capital. In this case there is likely to be complete anarchy in Mexico City, a condition that may result in wholesale murder of foreigners.

Persons arriving here today from Mexico City picture terrible conditions in the capital. Nearly 3,000 wounded soldiers have been taken there from battlefields where the Federals were defeated by the Constitutionalists. The wounded soldiers were dumped like cattle into freight cars, with a little mouldy straw for a bed. They received no medical attention on the way and very little after they reached here as surgeons are scarce and medical supplies at a low ebb.

Pestered by the heat and flies, ofttimes having a corpse for a bedfellow, the wounded troopers suffered untold agonies from thirst and pain as the freight rains bounced along over the uneven roadbed. Occasionally sudden stops would jar the train from end to end, sending the dead, dying and less seriously wounded rolling into a tangled mass. Shrieks of agony arose from the jumble mingled with curses and appeals for water.

Food was lacking as well as water and medical attention and the suffering of starvation was added to the pain of gunshot. Soon the rotting straw was damp with matted blood.

Some of the soldiers tried to bear their pain stoically. One refugee told of seeing a soldier who had amputated his own leg with a dirty, rusty pen knife. Gangrene naturally followed.

The Mexican generals treated their wounded with absolute indifference. One general stabled his horse in a box car filled with wounded.

Buildings were transformed into hospitals here but aside from affording a shelter they did little else for the sick Federals.

A report is current in the capital that Jose Lozano, minister of public works, and Querido Moheno, minister of commerce, compiled a list of American property to be blown up. Gen Huerta is said to have added to it the residences of a number of Americans. The plan to destroy this property was foiled by Eduardo Iturbide, governor of the Federal district, who objected so strongly that it was abandoned. General Huerta was said to have suggested the plan while under the influence of brandy.

H. A. Heath, a civil engineer, and Alexander McRea, also an engineer, who came through from Mexico City on a refugee train, told of an American being taken from the train and executed by Federals.

"Just after the train left the capital we halted at a wayside station and several Federal soldiers entered our coach," said Heath. "They walked through the train until they finally spotted a man whom I knew to be an American, but I did not know his name. They told him he must leave the train and as they bore weapons in their hands it would have been useless to object. The man was searched and questioned, then strung up to a telegraph pole. I afterwards heard that his body was carried back to Mexico City and buried near the North Gate."

This story cleared up a mystery which has existed for several days over the disapearance of an American from a Mexico City refugee train.

COMERFORD COMES TO TOWN.

Poughkeepsie Journalist Buys Controlling Interest in The Leader.

The Kingston Leader finally has been sold, according to an announcement published this morning, the purchaser being Thomas J. Comerford of Poughkeepsie, who has purchased the controlling interest in the company heretofore held by John E. Kraft.

Mr. Comerford has been engaged in the newspaper business for some time. When the Dutchess County Democrat was organized and financed by the Chanlers in Dutchess county, Mr. Comerford was its editor. Later he retired from the Democrat and purchased an interest in the Poughkeepsie Evening Enterprise, which he sold about two years ago. Later he purchased an interest in the Fishkill Journal at Beacon, which he conducted for some time.

Mr. Muyskens Declines a Call.

Word has been received that a unanimous call has been extended to the Rev. John Muyskens, Jr., pastor of the Reformed Church at Port Ewen, to become the pastor of the First Reformed Church of Van Vorst at Jersey City, N. J. This church is considerably larger than his present field, consequently offering special inducements for him to accept the same, but nevertheless Mr. Muyskens has declined to accept the call and will remain in Port Ewen where the work of the church is marked with steady progress.

HINKLEY GIVES HIMSELF UP

Stating that he had heard he was wanted Darwin Hinkley, the supposed author of the dynamite outrage, gave himself up to the authorities, shortly after one o'clock this morning and spent the remainder of the night in a cell in the county jail. This morning he was arraigned before Recorder Grogan for a hearing. He appeared without counsel waived examination and was committed to jail.

At the time Policeman Walker, who stopped in the sheriff's office to telephone, was leaving the court house and ran into Hinkley coming up the steps.

"You are just the man we are looking for" said Walker recognizing Hinkley immediately.

"I heard I was wanted so I thought I would give myself up" replied Hinkley quietly as he followed Walker back into the sheriff's office. Walker awakened Under Sheriff Archie McLaughlin who occupied the living apartments at the court house and they both thoroughly searched Hinkley who did not object.

The search developed the fact that the most dangerous weapon Hinkley was carrying was a small pocket knife. He also had a pocketbook in his pocket but it was empty.

Hinkley's clothes did not indicate that he had been forced to sleep out in the open and when asked where he had been he replied "I won't say anything until I see a lawyer." He also refused to say anything in regard to the alleged crime merely stating that he had heard he was wanted and had come to give himself up.

If Hinkley is guilty his surrender is the shrewdest move he could make for the alarm had been so general that his chance of escaping ultimate capture was very slim.

EXPLOSION KILLS 13 IN DETROIT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Detroit, Mich., May 15.—Thirteen persons were killed and many more were injured in an explosion which wrecked the works of the Mexican Crude Rubber Company today.

Seventeen injured workmen were rushed to hospitals and of this number, five were said to be in serious condition.

Firemen and policemen soon recovered eleven bodies from the debris, the remaining two being under such a mass of wreckage that work of reaching them was difficult.

A gas oven used for heating rubber exploded demolishing the one story building of the rubber concern.

So terrific was the force that the windows in all the buildings in the neighborhood were shattered.

Ambulances were rushed to the scene from every hospital in the city.

The explosion was accompanied by a roar that was heard for nearly half a mile.

Debris was scattered over the adjoining streets.

A gaping hole was torn into the ground underneath the spot where the oven had rested.

People ran from their homes in terror, some thinking that an earthquake had occurred.

Police were hurried to the scene in automobiles and established lines to keep back the fast gathering crowds.

The bodies, some of which were badly mangled and blackened, were taken to the morgue for identification while doctors administered first aid to the most seriously injured of the workmen upon the scene.

SPRAYING TREES PAYS.

Success of Tree Spraying in This City Proven by Experience.

The tree spraying in the city which is being carried on under the management of the Federation of Women's Clubs is proving very effective so far, especially where the caterpillars have appeared on the maple trees. The sprayers have been at work for nearly three weeks and expect to finish the orders for the maple trees in three or four more days. Then the spraying of elms will begin and orders for the spraying of the elms should be sent in at once as it will be necessary to make a small extra charge where orders come in after a section has been visited. Taking the machine back after one visitation means an added expense to those having the work done. Just to show the efficacy of this tree spraying, here is the experience of one man who paid the Federation the usual price to have an apple tree sprayed. It was a large tree but had never during the man's residence under its branches born anything but gnarled fruit. Last year, following the spraying, it was so loaded with fine fruit that the man had all he could possibly use in his own family and sold fourteen dollars worth of the fruit. He expects to spend another fifty cents with the Federation this year.

Southern Visitors.

There was a delightfully informal garden party held in one of the uptown gardens yesterday, most of the guests being southerners. There were blackburnian warblers, yellow warblers, chestnut-sided warblers, goldfinches, yellow-throated vireos, cat birds, song sparrows, chipping sparrows, English starlings and our good friends the robins.

DIAZ FOLLOWING HATCHING PLOTS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Vera Cruz, May 15.—The prospect of the speedy fall of General Huerta, now that the Constitutionalists have taken Tampico, has resulted in a number of rebel movements which are being hatched here. These indicate nothing so strongly as the fact that disturbances in Mexico will not end with the Constitutionalists in control of the central government in Mexico City.

Little knots of politicians are gathered in every cafe speaking in whispers of secret juntas and hidden headquarters of revolutionary activity. The latest movement is a revival of the Felix Diaz propaganda. Diaz, who is believed to be in the United States at present, has taken no part in the Constitutionalist move nor has he given it any sympathy. Consequently he is not looked upon as a friend by either Venustiano Carranza nor General Villa. Diaz belongs to a group, less conservative than the faction of Huerta, but more so than the Constitutionalists.

His name is the one most frequently heard in the revolutionary gossip which has followed the fall of Tampico.

The most influential supporters of Diaz were exiled or jailed by Huerta, but they are expected to return now that Huerta's end seems very near. In fact there are many who think that Huerta will be a tenant of the National Palace less than a week longer.

The political situation in Mexico is more interesting, yet more complicated than it has been at any previous time. The Constitutionalists now practically control all of the republic north of the capital with the exception of two or three cities and are ready now to open operations in the southern tier of states.

Huerta is hanging on with a grim death-like grasp to the little power that remains to him.

Zapata is foraging and looting and killing in the name of "patriotism" in the state of Morelos and neighboring states.

The Constitutionalists claim to stand for the same principles as Madero, but they are termed brigands by the Huertistas. On the other hand the Constitutionalists charge the supporters of Huerta stand for feudalism and graft. The Zapatistas seem to have no principles at all.

A dapper, secretive Mexican came here from the capital last night and held a long conference with General Dehesa, former governor of the state of Vera Cruz. He described himself as the private secretary to Rodolfo Reyes, former minister of justice, and a member of the combination that overthrew Madero. Senor Dehesa is a Mexican of the old school and governor of this state during the presidency of Porfirio Diaz.

It was reported that they had arranged a secret code with pass words and signals, but today neither would talk of the conclave.

This was but one indication of the growth of fresh revolutionary feeling. Fears are being aroused that Mexico may come into the same category as the Central American states and some of the South American states where changes of government are common occurrence and the spirit of revolution always simmers.

Word from Tampico says that the Constitutionalists are trying to make a good impression upon the foreign powers, especially the United States, by maintenance of order in that battle-scared city.

General Gonzales has established a military police force and the city is being cleaned up.

The wounded soldiers are being treated in hospitals.

Guards have been established around the oil properties of American and British capitalists.

The fire which was caused by the rebel artillery, did slight damage.

Gen. Gonzales issued a manifesto to the people of Tampico, asking them to resume normal business affairs, assuring them that they would be protected.

Gen. Zaragoza is now believed to have escaped to the gunboat Zaragoza, which was lying in Panuco river during the battle. Together with the Vera Cruz and the Bravo the Zaragoza passed down to the mouth of the river when the Federal retreat began.

Another message reported Gen. Zaragoza as being on a train bound for San Luis Potosi with a few of his troops.

Practically all of the dead have been buried, except the corpses of soldiers who were shot down in the brush and swamps along the Panuco and Tamos rivers west of the city.

A detachment of Constitutionalists are cleaning up the debris left by the destruction of the Federal ammunition depots, which were blown up just as the troops evacuated.

Although there was some looting, it was said that the period immediately following the capture of Tampico was more orderly than that after the taking of Torreon and Gomez Palacio. Villa sent word to his officers to repeal the rule giving their troops 48 hours for license and pillage and to shoot any who disobeyed orders.

Gen. Cabellero, one of the Constitutionalist leaders, said that martial law would not be proclaimed unless it became absolutely necessary. He also said that the custom house would be opened today.

Gen. Carranza is contemplating making Tampico the provisional capital and to order large supplies of arms and ammunition to be consigned there from the United States. However, this may be rendered impossible by a blockade of the harbor by the three Mexican gunboats Zaragoza, Vera Cruz and Bravo.

However, even if Huerta does order a blockade, the Constitutionalists have plenty of money and there are always daring men to engage in blockade running if the pay is big.

Constitutionalist scouts have been sent south to ascertain the strength of the Federal army in front of Vera Cruz, commanded by Generals Navarette and Pena Garcia. It is possible that there may be a battle almost at the American outposts.

Other Constitutionalists are being deployed between Mexico City and Cordoba to prevent Huerta's flight to that city or to Puerto Mexico.

Senor Emilio Rabasa, chairman of the committee of representatives appointed by General Huerta to attend the conference with the A. B. C. mediators at Niagara Falls, Ontario.

SERIOUS BREAK IN ERIE CANAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Utica, N. Y., May 15.—A serious break in the Erie canal at Durhamville, 27 miles west of this city, threatens to delay for several weeks the opening of traffic on the 60 mile level between Utica and Syracuse. The canal was scheduled to open today.

The people of Durhamville turned out and helped the state employes in trying to stop the flow of water by dumping bales of hay, of which over 200 were used, 200 sacks of bran, weighing 200 pounds a piece, and a like number of sacks filled with sand into a breach. All of the gates along the level were ordered opened to reduce the pressure at the break.

Arson Squad Burns Pavilion.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 15.—The arson squad of the militant suffragettes today burned the large cricket pavilion of the Oratory School at Edgerton. Literature containing attacks against Premier Asquith and denouncing the government for not treating the Ulster Unionists as suffragettes, are being treated, was found about the ruins.

FEDERAL WOUNDED RECEIVE NO CARE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Vera Cruz, May 15.—President Huerta's dictatorship is drawing to a stormy and tragic close. Reports received here state that the Federal troops at Piedada Barracks, only a short distance from the center of the city, have mutinied and that the rebels under Ben. Zapata have attacked Huerta's troops at Tlalpam, only twelve miles from the National Palace.

These reports indicate that the dictator may fall even before the Constitutionalists bring their artillery to bear on the capital. In this case there is likely to be complete anarchy in Mexico City, a condition that may result in wholesale murder of foreigners.

Persons arriving here today from Mexico City picture terrible conditions in the capital. Nearly 3,000 wounded soldiers have been taken there from battlefields where the Federals were defeated by the Constitutionalists. The wounded soldiers were dumped like cattle into freight cars, with a little mouldy straw for a bed. They received no medical attention on the way and very little after they reached here as surgeons are scarce and medical supplies at a low ebb.

Pestered by the heat and flies, ofttimes having a corpse for a bedfellow, the wounded troopers suffered untold agonies from thirst and pain as the freight rains bounced along over the uneven roadbed. Occasionally sudden stops would jar the train from end to end, sending the dead, dying and less seriously wounded rolling into a tangled mass. Shrieks of agony arose from the jumble mingled with curses and appeals for water.

Food was lacking as well as water and medical attention and the suffering of starvation was added to the pain of gunshot. Soon the rotting straw was damp with matted blood.

Some of the soldiers tried to bear their pain stoically. One refugee told of seeing a soldier who had amputated his own leg with a dirty, rusty pen knife. Gangrene naturally followed.

The Mexican generals treated their wounded with absolute indifference. One general stabled his horse in a box car filled with wounded.

Buildings were transformed into hospitals here but aside from affording a shelter they did little else for the sick Federals.

A report is current in the capital that Jose Lozano, minister of public works, and Querido Moheno, minister of commerce, compiled a list of American property to be blown up. Gen Huerta is said to have added to it the residences of a number of Americans. The plan to destroy this property was foiled by Eduardo Iturbide, governor of the Federal district, who objected so strongly that it was abandoned. General Huerta was said to have suggested the plan while under the influence of brandy.

H. A. Heath, a civil engineer, and Alexander McRea, also an engineer, who came through from Mexico City on a refugee train, told of an American being taken from the train and executed by Federals.

"Just after the train left the capital we halted at a wayside station and several Federal soldiers entered our coach," said Heath. "They walked through the train until they finally spotted a man whom I knew to be an American, but I did not know his name. They told him he must leave the train and as they bore weapons in their hands it would have been useless to object. The man was searched and questioned, then strung up to a telegraph pole. I afterwards heard that his body was carried back to Mexico City and buried near the North Gate."

This story cleared up a mystery which has existed for several days over the disapearance of an American from a Mexico City refugee train.

COMERFORD COMES TO TOWN.

Poughkeepsie Journalist Buys Controlling Interest in The Leader.

The Kingston Leader finally has been sold, according to an announcement published this morning, the purchaser being Thomas J. Comerford of Poughkeepsie, who has purchased the controlling interest in the company heretofore held by John E. Kraft.

Mr. Comerford has been engaged in the newspaper business for some time. When the Dutchess County Democrat was organized and financed by the Chanlers in Dutchess county, Mr. Comerford was its editor. Later he retired from the Democrat and purchased an interest in the Poughkeepsie Evening Enterprise, which he sold about two years ago. Later he purchased an interest in the Fishkill Journal at Beacon, which he conducted for some time.

Mr. Muyskens Declines a Call.

Word has been received that a unanimous call has been extended to the Rev. John Muyskens, Jr., pastor of the Reformed Church at Port Ewen, to become the pastor of the First Reformed Church of Van Vorst at Jersey City, N. J. This church is considerably larger than his present field, consequently offering special inducements for him to accept the same, but nevertheless Mr. Muyskens has declined to accept the call and will remain in Port Ewen where the work of the church is marked with steady progress.

HINKLEY GIVES HIMSELF UP

Stating that he had heard he was wanted Darwin Hinkley, the supposed author of the dynamite outrage, gave himself up to the authorities, shortly after one o'clock this morning and spent the remainder of the night in a cell in the county jail. This morning he was arraigned before Recorder Grogan for a hearing. He appeared without counsel waived examination and was committed to jail.

At the time Policeman Walker, who stopped in the sheriff's office to telephone, was leaving the court house and ran into Hinkley coming up the steps.

"You are just the man we are looking for" said Walker recognizing Hinkley immediately.

"I heard I was wanted so I thought I would give myself up" replied Hinkley quietly as he followed Walker back into the sheriff's office. Walker awakened Under Sheriff Archie McLaughlin who occupied the living apartments at the court house and they both thoroughly searched Hinkley who did not object.

The search developed the fact that the most dangerous weapon Hinkley was carrying was a small pocket knife. He also had a pocketbook in his pocket but it was empty.

Hinkley's clothes did not indicate that he had been forced to sleep out in the open and when asked where he had been he replied "I won't say anything until I see a lawyer." He also refused to say anything in regard to the alleged crime merely stating that he had heard he was wanted and had come to give himself up.

If Hinkley is guilty his surrender is the shrewdest move he could make for the alarm had been so general that his chance of escaping ultimate capture was very slim.

EXPLOSION KILLS 13 IN DETROIT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Detroit, Mich., May 15.—Thirteen persons were killed and many more were injured in an explosion which wrecked the works of the Mexican Crude Rubber Company today.

Seventeen injured workmen were rushed to hospitals and of this number, five were said to be in serious condition.

Firemen and policemen soon recovered eleven bodies from the debris, the remaining two being under such a mass of wreckage that work of reaching them was difficult.

A gas oven used for heating rubber exploded demolishing the one story building of the rubber concern.

So terrific was the force that the windows in all the buildings in the neighborhood were shattered.

Ambulances were rushed to the scene from every hospital in the city.

The explosion was accompanied by a roar that was heard for nearly half a mile.

Debris was scattered over the adjoining streets.

A gaping hole was torn into the ground underneath the spot where the oven had rested.

People ran from their homes in terror, some thinking that an earthquake had occurred.

Police were hurried to the scene in automobiles and established lines to keep back the fast gathering crowds.

The bodies, some of which were badly mangled and blackened, were taken to the morgue for identification while doctors administered first aid to the most seriously injured of the workmen upon the scene.

SPRAYING TREES PAYS.

Success of Tree Spraying in This City Proven by Experience.

The tree spraying in the city which is being carried on under the management of the Federation of Women's Clubs is proving very effective so far, especially where the caterpillars have appeared on the maple trees. The sprayers have been at work for nearly three weeks and expect to finish the orders for the maple trees in three or four more days. Then the spraying of elms will begin and orders for the spraying of the elms should be sent in at once as it will be necessary to make a small extra charge where orders come in after a section has been visited. Taking the machine back after one visitation means an added expense to those having the work done. Just to show the efficacy of this tree spraying, here is the experience of one man who paid the Federation the usual price to have an apple tree sprayed. It was a large tree but had never during the man's residence under its branches born anything but gnarled fruit. Last year, following the spraying, it was so loaded with fine fruit that the man had all he could possibly use in his own family and sold fourteen dollars worth of the fruit. He expects to spend another fifty cents with the Federation this year.

Southern Visitors.

There was a delightfully informal garden party held in one of the uptown gardens yesterday, most of the guests being southerners. There were blackburnian warblers, yellow warblers, chestnut-sided warblers, goldfinches, yellow-throated vireos, cat birds, song sparrows, chipping sparrows, English starlings and our good friends the robins.

SHANDAKEN.

Shandaken, May 15.—The Rev. D. N. F. Blakeney, the new pastor of the M. E. Church, preached to a good congregation on Sunday last, taking for his text: "I am come that they might have life and have it more abundantly." Mr. Blakeney is well liked and his audience is increasing. He preaches four times each Sunday; having a Ford machine he can make his appointments very easily. He also leads the prayer service in this place every Thursday evening.

One of the best things that has taken place in Shandaken for a long time is the changing of what was formerly called the Palace Hotel, but later the Glenbrook, to a preparatory school for boys and girls, called the Shandaken Institute, under the management of R. L. Marsans. It is a beautiful spot for such a school, as fine as any place in the Catskills. The institute is already established with fifteen boys, who are Cubans, and Mr. Marsans expects to have as many as twenty-five boys by the first of June. The building is being completely overhauled and repaired and the grounds are being gotten into fine shape.

E. S. Whitney of Kingston was a visitor in this place on Wednesday.

The building business continues to boom in this place. George Yerry is putting up a residence for G. F. Van Keuren at Allaben. Mr. Van Keuren will use part of this for the post office.

A. O. Fischer, the artist, is building a nice barn in Bushnellville.

If anyone wants to know if business is picking up in this locality let them watch the freight trains come in at the Ulster and Delaware station.

Miss Race of the Allaben school is preparing for appropriate exercises on the last day of school, which is Thursday, May 21.

Burr Knight has rented the parsonage of the M. E. Church and will move there soon. Charles Hommell, former occupant, having bought the house and [illegible] Frank Tyler and is moving there.

accurately, for they combine every known feature of Wilton excellence together with certain entirely new principles that make possible the most exquisite patterns and the most delicate colorings yet with a remarkable durability.

The pile of Hardwick Wiltons is closer than any other Wilton made, and they will always lie flat and smooth, never wrinkling, creeping or curling at the edges.

The designs include faithful reproductions of the gems of the Orient, such as Saruks, Kermanshahs, Sennas and others. And the forty or more sizes make it possible to fit any room, no matter what its size or shape may be.

The prices of Hardwick Wilton Rugs are most reasonable, especially when the quality is considered.

It would give us great pleasure to show them to you.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

9927.—A Simple Neat Little Frock. Girl's One Piece Dress With Straight or Shaped Edge at the Closing, and With or Without Girdle.

Such a pretty dress was developed from this design in blue and white dotted tub silk. It is equally effective in gingham, percale, galatea, challie, lawn, dimity, voile or crepe. Feather-stitching or insertion would form a pretty trimming on this model. The model has inverted fullness at the underarm seams, and the sleeve and neck finish is pleasing though simple. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 2, 4, 6, and 8 years. It requires 2⅝ yards of 36 or 40 inch material for a 6 year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 10 cents in silver or stamps for our up-to-date 1914 Spring and Summer Catalogue, containing over 400 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns; also a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, giving valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

The beautiful white and colored Dresses we are showing were selected after a most careful examination of many models. It was an unhurried examination, too. Here are White Dresses for the June bride as well as the girl graduate. The designs are, without question, the prettiest we know of, and the materials are such a striking advance over any heretofore shown that a comparison of their beauty is futile. # STRIKERS ASSAULT FACTORY WORKERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Wakefield, Mass., May 15.—Fve hundred men and women strikers from the rattan factory of the Heywood Brothers and Wakefield Company attacked two hundred workmen with stones and clubs at the factory gates today. The women were chased in all directions, three score fleeing into the town hall two blocks away. Superintendent R. F. Stout of the cane department was knocked unconscious by a rock. James McDonald, night watchman, was stoned, kicked and clubbed when he went to Stout's assistance. Twenty other operatives were wounded. The Wakefield police, assisted by the Metropolitan Park police, dispersed the rioters after a fight.

Mrs. Israel Loses Her Suit.

Mrs. Lena Israel, who sued her step-father, Isaac Goldman, of 399 Knickerbocker avenue, for $5,000 damages for an alleged assault, lost her case very quickly on the trial, Thursday, before Justice Kelly and jury, in Part II of the supreme court, the jury taking but a few minutes to decide for the defendant. Mrs. Israel claimed that the defendant threw a knife at her one day several years ago, and cut her across the temple. There was a long scar exhibited to the jury by plaintiff on the witness stand. The plaintiff lives in Kingston, N. Y. The defendant claimed that the charge against him was a fabrication. The jury evidently believed the step-father.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Siegel to be Shadowed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Plymouth, Eng., May 15.—The local police today received orders from London to board the Olympic when she arrived here and shadow Henry Siegel, the American banker and merchant, if he left the vessel. This action was taken on the request of authorities in New York, where Siegel is under indictment. If Siebel attempts to leave England for France he probably will be arrested. The United States has no extradition treaty with France covering the offenses with which Siegel is charged and the New York police want him detained here and forced to return to America.

Exquisite Dresses

The beautiful white and colored Dresses we are showing were selected after a most careful examination of many models. It was an unhurried examination, too. We looked for faults in fabric and design and found enough to reject all but the very attractive Summer Dresses that we now offer women and misses who seek perfection in this important item of apparel. Here are White Dresses for the June bride as well as the girl graduate. The designs are, without question, the prettiest we know of, and the materials are such a striking advance over any heretofore shown that a comparison of their beauty is futile. # STRIKERS ASSAULT FACTORY WORKERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Wakefield, Mass., May 15.—Fve hundred men and women strikers from the rattan factory of the Heywood Brothers and Wakefield Company attacked two hundred workmen with stones and clubs at the factory gates today. The women were chased in all directions, three score fleeing into the town hall two blocks away. Superintendent R. F. Stout of the cane department was knocked unconscious by a rock. James McDonald, night watchman, was stoned, kicked and clubbed when he went to Stout's assistance. Twenty other operatives were wounded. The Wakefield police, assisted by the Metropolitan Park police, dispersed the rioters after a fight.

Mrs. Israel Loses Her Suit.

Mrs. Lena Israel, who sued her step-father, Isaac Goldman, of 399 Knickerbocker avenue, for $5,000 damages for an alleged assault, lost her case very quickly on the trial, Thursday, before Justice Kelly and jury, in Part II of the supreme court, the jury taking but a few minutes to decide for the defendant. Mrs. Israel claimed that the defendant threw a knife at her one day several years ago, and cut her across the temple. There was a long scar exhibited to the jury by plaintiff on the witness stand. The plaintiff lives in Kingston, N. Y. The defendant claimed that the charge against him was a fabrication. The jury evidently believed the step-father.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Siegel to be Shadowed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Plymouth, Eng., May 15.—The local police today received orders from London to board the Olympic when she arrived here and shadow Henry Siegel, the American banker and merchant, if he left the vessel. This action was taken on the request of authorities in New York, where Siegel is under indictment. If Siebel attempts to leave England for France he probably will be arrested. The United States has no extradition treaty with France covering the offenses with which Siegel is charged and the New York police want him detained here and forced to return to America.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 15, 1914.

We wish to call the attention of the gentlemen in charge of revising the Kingston charter to the experience of Kearney, N. J., this month. The Commission Government League tried to pass a new charter at a special election, but were opposed vigorously by the local professional politicians, with the result that the charter was beaten by a vote of nearly two to one. Only 722 persons voted for the proposed charter, although 884 had signed the petition for the special election. This indicates the importance of interesting men who know how to get out votes previous to bringing such questions to an issue. A little tact in such matters goes far. Politicians are not such bad fellows as the amateur reformer is apt to think them, and they can be utilized most advantageously in all uplift movements if properly approached.

The typhus germ, which hosts of experimenters have vainly tried to find, has finally been isolated by Dr. Harry Plotz, an interne in Mt. Sinai Hospital, and he was to have read a paper explaining his discovery before the annual meeting of the American Association of Physicians in New York this week. A newspaper, meanwhile, learned about Dr. Plotz's achievement and published the fact. Consequently, although Dr. Plotz was in no way to blame for the publication, the Association declined to let the paper be read, holding that offense had been given to "medical ethics." Some doctors are so steeped in silly traditions that they can regard this incident without either laughing or growing indignant, but to men who look upon it with unprejudiced minds it appears to be a childish performance unworthy of grown-up men. The science of medicine has progressed far from the days when lizard broth and rats' eyes had an honored place in materia medica, but the accepted code of "medical ethics" has lagged a considerable distance behind.

President Wilson has let it become known that he wants Congress to pass his anti-trust bill and then go home. Some of the Democratic leaders insist that there shall also be some legislation providing for farm credits before adjournment. If a referendum could be had on the subject, we are convinced that it would result in an overwhelming mandate to Congress to go home without doing either of these things. The fever against trusts has subsided and people are getting sick of the subject. They see that they have been buncoed by demagogues into false beliefs. They have seen trust after trust dissolved without obtaining any benefit from the process, just as they have seen the tariff reduced without any lowering of the cost of living. They are pretty well convinced that the progressive legislative program is hurting business and checking prosperity and they would like to have a rest. As for farm credits, that is merely a fad. Farmers need special opportunities for borrowing money no more than do editors or school teachers. No legislation can be devised which will enable anybody to earn his living without constant attention and industry, and the great public need is to be let alone for a while.

While wireless telegraphy has been accepted as an important fact for several years, the public has remained sceptical regarding the possibility of wireless telephony. The time has now arrived for a change in this attitude. On Wednesday of this week experimenters in New York City succeeded in talking with operators in Philadelphia and on ships at sea, and the principle on which the instruments are constructed will be made public as soon as they can be protected by patents. Naturally, the invention is still in a crude state, but it is bound to be improved, and most persons now living will doubtless see some day the establishment of this method of communication on a commercial basis. Without further knowledge of the subject we are unable to express an opinion of any value on the question whether telephone wires will eventually be done away with, but it is certain that such an event will not occur very soon. Wireless telegraphy has not come anywhere near putting wires and cables out of business. This is a good time to remark incidentally that the use of the telephone has done much to promote the practice of clear articulation. There is less mumbling and slovenliness in enunciation than there was a generation ago, since persons who cannot speak plainly are in about the same situation in business that a dumb man is in social life. It is reasonable to suppose that wireless telephony will further this improvement.

FLINT TAVERN WELL.

Question of Contract for Drilling It Gets Into Court.

The action brought by Emory C. Evans against Henry W. Gabriel to recover $627 on a foreclosure of a mechanic's lien on land in the town of Plattekill, known as the "Flint Tavern Stand" was taken up for trial before Judge Chester and a jury in supreme court on Thursday afternoon and the case was continued this morning. A. J. Fowler, with William D. Brinnier of counsel, for Mr. Evans and A. S. Embler for Mr. Gabriel. Mr. Evans claims that he was engaged by the defendant to drill an artesian well on his property at an agreed price of $3 per foot, and that he drilled a well 209 feet in depth and presented a bill for $627 for the work. Mr. Evans said he had been in the business of drilling wells for twenty-five years and that after he had made a contract with Mr. Gabriel he was put off from time to time when he wanted to go ahead and drill the well, Mr. Gabriel claiming that he had purchased an automobile and had used all his ready money. Finally Mr. Evans went to work and drilled down 200 feet and got a flow of water of 2½ gallons a minute. M. Evans claimed that Mr. Gabriel wanted more water but did not want to expend any more money. Mr. Gabriel had heard that dynamite exploded in a well caused water to flow freely and Mr. Evans at his request exploded from 30 to 40 pounds but it did not increase the flow of water. Mr. Gabriel refused to pay the bill when presented because the well did not flow five gallons a minute.

On the other hand Mr. Gabriel claims that Mr. Evans agreed to drill a well that would furnish a flow of five gallons a minute, and that he had not detained Mr. Evans from starting the work of drilling but it was a year at least before the work was started by Mr. Evans.

Mrs. Grace Silverman of Milton was awarded damages of $750 by the jury in the action brought by her against Anders H. Anderson. The case was hotly contested before Judge Chester at Thursday's session of supreme court and the verdict was reached about 5 o'clock that afternoon. The action arose over transactions following the sale of the florist business at Milton to Mr. Anderson to Mrs. Silverman. Cunningham & Traver appeared for Mrs. Silverman and Alexander Dow for Mr. Anderson. During the course of the trial allegations were made by Mrs. Silverman that she had been knocked down by Mr. Anderson and had been called a liar, a thief and a crook. Mr. Anderson denied the allegations.

DIXON TAKES STOCK OF KINGSTON CITY

Chautauqua Lecturer Tells What a City Should Be—Favors Commission Government—Attraction at Chautauqua This Evening.

Four of the elements that contributed to any city's prosperity and progressiveness were outlined by Frank Dixon in his lecture "The Social Survey, or Taking Stock of a Town," at Thursday evening's session of Chautauqua at the armory. They were to make it a beautiful city, to make it the healthiest city, to make it the best educated city, and lastly to make it the best governed city. Mr. Dixon's lecture was one of the most interesting and instructive of the series of lectures that has been arranged for Chautauqua week.

In taking up the subject of beauty he said that it was one of the city's most valuable assets and that the average town was dirty, ugly and a blemish on the face of the earth. He said of course that did not apply to Kingston but at the same time if he could spend one day going around with a camera taking pictures of the back yards in Kingston and then labeling them with the owner's name and having them thrown on the screen he would have to get out of town in a hurry. He believed that every city should have some definite plan to follow in building as the city gradually grew. Ninety-nine out of every hundred cities are built on the crazy quilt pattern. Every city ought to have an art commission to pass upon the plans of contemplated buildings or even of the erection of a back yard fence. The streets of Boston were laid out on cow paths and he advised that when new streets were to be laid out to have a cow do it. A cow, said Mr. Dixon, has more artistic sense than the average street commissioner or city engineer. He said it costs hundreds of thousands of dollars a year to spoil the natural advantages of our cities. He believed that instead of the usual procedure of driving a street directly through a hill and then leveling off the hill the street should be built in such a manner that it winds around the hill, gradually ascending to the top, which should be crowned with a public building that would add to its attractiveness. He said that when he rode through Kingston in a trolley car he was glad to note that we had appreciated the natural beauties of hills and had not attempted to level them off. It is the usual cusom when a city builds a fine street to have it torn up before it has been laid a year to put down gas and water pipes. This could and should be avoided by having permanent tunnels built under the streets.

This applied to our own Broadway pavement, although Mr. Dixon did not say so as he did not know it. It is the usual thing in summer to ride down Broadway and see the brick pavement torn up to lay pipes that should have been laid before the brick pavement was laid.

Kingston could be made the healthiest city. He said that the death rate in cities was appalling and the sad fact was that most of deaths were due to preventable causes. He believed there should be a good system of sanitation in every city and that the board of health was one of the most important boards of a city for it had to do with the health of a city. The health officer should be well paid so that he could devote his time to matters pertaining to health.

The third point was the school system. The efficiency of a city depended upon its public schools. He believed that there should be more men teachers in the schools. He said that when a boy reaches the age of 14 years he is at the most critical age of his development and needed men teachers. Girls should have women teachers. He said that the school year was too short. He believed in an eight hour day and a six day school. Three months of a year wasted on vacations were too much. The teachers should be better paid and the school hours lengthened.

The fourth point was city government. He believed in the commission form of government and called attention to the form used by Dayton, Ohio.

Mr. Dixon spoke for an hour and a half, but so interesting was his address that his audience forgot the length of time he had been speaking. His lectures were illustrated with a number of stories that brought out the points he was trying to impress upon his hearers.

The concert by the Tyrolean Alpine Yodlers that preceded the lecture, was exceedingly good and they were heartily encored.

At the afternoon session Mr. Elliott, the platform superintendent, gave the last two acts of "The Fortune Hunter," and the yodlers gave a fine concert.

The program this evening consists of a concert by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Such on the violin and piano and a lecture on "The Wonders of Science," by Reno B. Welbourn.

The attendance at both the afternoon and evening session was large. Every one in Kingston should make it a point to attend Chautauqua while it remains in Kingston. The program is full of good things that should not be missed.

Iron will be set on fire with an icicle.

Water will burn like oil.

Darkness will produce light.

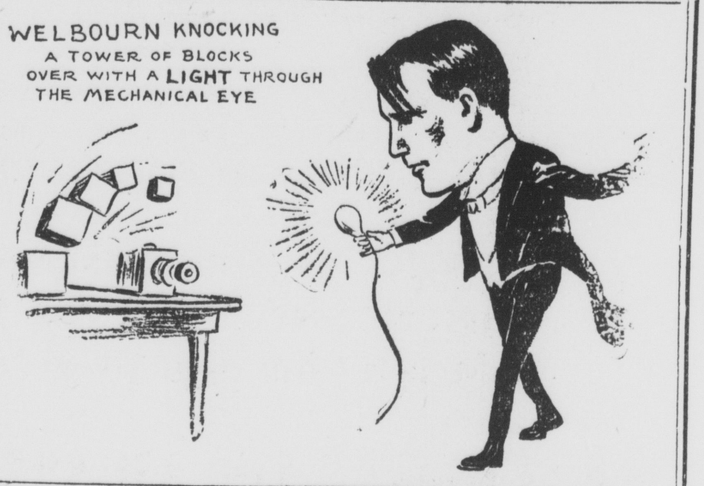

Heat will produce cold.

You will see the invisible and hear light with your ears.

When Reno B. Welbourn delivers his lecture on "The Wonders of Science" this evening such experiments as those above will merely be a few of the more spectacular he will perform by way of illustration of his lecture. Perhaps nothing is more interesting than a bit of "sugar coated knowledge." Mr. Welbourn is a master at the art of making hard scientific facts as interesting as a fairy story. He is witty, has a pleasant voice and manner, and appeals to the eye quite as much as to the ear.

Mr. Welbourn deals with seeming impossibilities calculated to stagger the credulity of the mind and even the longest stretches of the imagination. The wonderful fascination of these extraordinary feats lies partly in the fact that they are not done by any sort of magic, but are purely logical and entirely comprehensible to any one who is moved to study them out. They are feats which a magician, as we understand that term, could not perform without years of careful study of the technique of science.

If your boy has a scientific turn, he will be delighted to tell you how Mr. Welbourn "does it." If he does not already know the "why" of it, he will be stimulated to find out. Perhaps even you will quietly hunt up some old copies of a scientific journal, or turn through the encyclopedia with a view to "getting the goods" on him.

DIXON TAKES STOCK OF KINGSTON CITY

Chautauqua Lecturer Tells What a City Should Be—Favors Commission Government—Attraction at Chautauqua This Evening.

Four of the elements that contributed to any city's prosperity and progressiveness were outlined by Frank Dixon in his lecture "The Social Survey, or Taking Stock of a Town," at Thursday evening's session of Chautauqua at the armory. They were to make it a beautiful city, to make it the healthiest city, to make it the best educated city, and lastly to make it the best governed city. It is the usual cusom when a city builds a fine street to have it torn up before it has been laid a year to put down gas and water pipes. This could and should be avoided by having permanent tunnels built under the streets.

This applied to our own Broadway pavement, although Mr. Dixon did not say so as he did not know it. It is the usual thing in summer to ride down Broadway and see the brick pavement torn up to lay pipes that should have been laid before the brick pavement was laid.

Kingston could be made the healthiest city. He said that the death rate in cities was appalling and the sad fact was that most of deaths were due to preventable causes. He believed there should be a good system of sanitation in every city and that the board of health was one of the most important boards of a city for it had to do with the health of a city. The health officer should be well paid so that he could devote his time to matters pertaining to health.

The third point was the school system. The efficiency of a city depended upon its public schools. He believed that there should be more men teachers in the schools. He said that when a boy reaches the age of 14 years he is at the most critical age of his development and needed men teachers. Girls should have women teachers. He said that the school year was too short. He believed in an eight hour day and a six day school. Three months of a year wasted on vacations were too much. The teachers should be better paid and the school hours lengthened.

The fourth point was city government. He believed in the commission form of government and called attention to the form used by Dayton, Ohio.

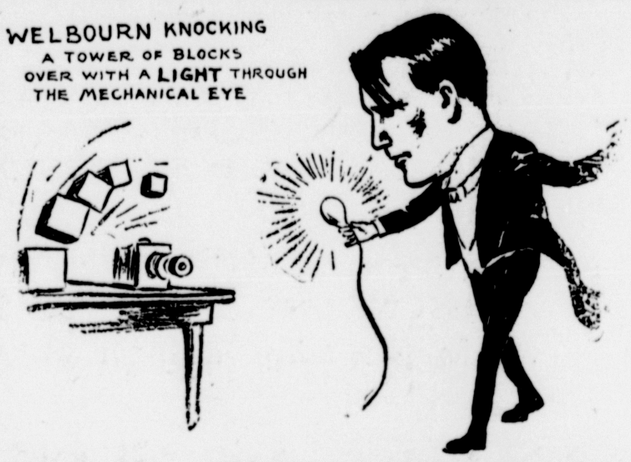

Mr. Dixon spoke for an hour and a half, but so interesting was his address that his audience forgot the length of time he had been speaking. His lectures were illustrated with a number of stories that brought out the points he was trying to impress upon his hearers.

The concert by the Tyrolean Alpine Yodlers that preceded the lecture, was exceedingly good and they were heartily encored.

At the afternoon session Mr. Elliott, the platform superintendent, gave the last two acts of "The Fortune Hunter," and the yodlers gave a fine concert.

The program this evening consists of a concert by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Such on the violin and piano and a lecture on "The Wonders of Science," by Reno B. Welbourn.

The attendance at both the afternoon and evening session was large. Every one in Kingston should make it a point to attend Chautauqua while it remains in Kingston. The program is full of good things that should not be missed.

Iron will be set on fire with an icicle.

Water will burn like oil.

Darkness will produce light.

Heat will produce cold.

You will see the invisible and hear light with your ears.

When Reno B. Welbourn delivers his lecture on "The Wonders of Science" this evening such experiments as those above will merely be a few of the more spectacular he will perform by way of illustration of his lecture. Perhaps nothing is more interesting than a bit of "sugar coated knowledge." Mr. Welbourn is a master at the art of making hard scientific facts as interesting as a fairy story. He is witty, has a pleasant voice and manner, and appeals to the eye quite as much as to the ear.

Mr. Welbourn deals with seeming impossibilities calculated to stagger the credulity of the mind and even the longest stretches of the imagination. The wonderful fascination of these extraordinary feats lies partly in the fact that they are not done by any sort of magic, but are purely logical and entirely comprehensible to any one who is moved to study them out. They are feats which a magician, as we understand that term, could not perform without years of careful study of the technique of science.

If your boy has a scientific turn, he will be delighted to tell you how Mr. Welbourn "does it." If he does not already know the "why" of it, he will be stimulated to find out. Perhaps even you will quietly hunt up some old copies of a scientific journal, or turn through the encyclopedia with a view to "getting the goods" on him.

FOLK ON TRAIL OF SLUSH FUND

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 15.—Campaign contributions constitute the next New Haven tangle which Solicitor Folk and the Interstate Commerce Commission will attempt to unravel.

Mr. Folk today announced that he is going to the bottom of the political situation in New England at the time the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. was most active in making political friends.

"Aside from the $1,200,000 slush fund which the New Haven raised to give aid and comfort to judges, police officials and aldermen, who it is believed were in a position to grease the ways for the launching of the Westchester enterprise, an operation which involved 13 franchise amendments, the railroad also donated freely to campaign coffers," said Mr. Folk.

"It is interesting to note that the New Haven played no favorites on its own hook. It backed up fortune's favorites by always getting on the winning side. If the Democrats were the stronger in Connecticut, one year, than the Republicans, the New Haven contributed to the Democrats. And should the Republicans loom up the stronger in Massachusetts, the same course would be pursued. In this way the railroad had friends in both camps throughout New England.

"We don't know yet just how much these campaign contributions amounted to, but the impression we get from dipping in around the legislators is that they ran into robust figures."

Governor Folk is trying today to obtain the names of those who served on the board of aldermen in New York city during the periods in which he is interested and also of those judges, police officials and other municipal authorities, who he thinks may have been connected with the New Haven.

"We don't care who it hits or who it hurts," said Mr. Folk. "We are going to make a clean sweep right through the city hall and all the other public buildings and take them."

THAT HOUSE LOOKS FINE

This is what the passers-by will say of your home after we are through with it.

A couple of coats of paint properly applied makes a great difference in the appearance of a house or any other building.

Whether or not the house remains nice looking after being painted depends on the materials and how they are proportioned.

We do not paint all houses alike.

We always use the best materials, Atlantic White Lead and Pure Linseed oil but we mix these ingredients differently according to the conditions. Surfaces differ, therefore, paint must differ. In short, as a famous artist once said, "I mix my paint with brains." Call us up and let up have a paint talk with you. Practical hangers of burlap, grass cloth, Lino-wall canvas and all heavy materials, also dealers in same.

THAT HOUSE LOOKS FINE

This is what the passers-by will say of your home after we are through with it.

A couple of coats of paint properly applied makes a great difference in the appearance of a house or any other building.

Whether or not the house remains nice looking after being painted depends on the materials and how they are proportioned.

We do not paint all houses alike.

We always use the best materials, Atlantic White Lead and Pure Linseed oil but we mix these ingredients differently according to the conditions. Surfaces differ, therefore, paint must differ. In short, as a famous artist once said, "I mix my paint with brains." Call us up and let up have a paint talk with you. Practical hangers of burlap, grass cloth, Lin-o-wall canvas and all heavy materials, also dealers in same.

ANNUAL INSTITUTE OF COUNTY W.C.T.U.

The annual institute of the Ulster County W. C. T. U., was held in the M. E. Church at Port Ewen on Wednesday and Thursday, May 13 and 14. The following official report of the session has been furnished to The Freeman:

The annual institute began its session with a goody number in attendance. Delegates from nearly every local union in Ulster county were present. Mrs. Grace De Graff of Ulster Park had a helpful devotional service and the institute was called to order by the President, Mrs. Martha Bell of Milton. The various committees were then appointed as follows:

Resolution Committee. Mrs. M. L. Stevens, Mrs. Kate Thorne, Mrs. Joseph Millett, Mrs. M. J. Millspaugh, Mrs. Alice E. Stevens, Mrs. E. J. Ransome, Mrs. Hulda Sutton, Miss Mary Freer, Mrs. Augusta Wood.

Committee to report for paper. Mrs. C. L. Palmer.

Committee to Take Subscriptions to State and County Paper. Mrs. Alice Crispell.

The Rev. G. F. Snyder was then introduced and extended hearty greetings to the convention from himself personally, and because of the principles for which the organization stands, for the good such a convention does in a community, for its good influence, and because the women of the W. C. T. U. fight for the principles for which the organization stands. He also extended a hearty welcome from the local branch of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Bell responded by saying we appreciate your hospitality in entertaining this institute and hope the effect and influence of this institute may be lasting and for the uplift of its members. Noontide prayer was offered by Mrs. Mary Craft of Milton.

Introduction of several visitors, who spoke words of encouragement to the institute.

Dinner was then served to a large number of delegates and visitors. After dinner Mrs. Elsie M. Pultz of Kingston had an evangelistic service. She tested the audience by asking for Bible verses, commencing with every letter of the alphabet, and was a little surprised to find the audience so well versed in the Bible. Mrs. Alice Stevens offered prayer. Mrs. Pultz then explained some of the words of God, in such an attractive, impressive way, that each one felt that she had a spiritual feast.

Miss Christine Tinling gave a talk on methods of teaching scientific temperance instructions. She told of how boys in some places were given cards by the whiskey men, each time they bought a drink the card was punched, the boy having the most holes punched at the end of a month would receive a prize. The boys in another place were given small looking glasses, and by returning the glass to the saloon, they could get a glass of beer. Thus they were instilling the habit of drinking in the boy, who would soon acquire the appetite for strong drink. We should start to teach our boys and girls right living from infant class up. They are never too young to learn. Show the teachers in the schools how you appreciate what they do for your children, by a reception in their honor. Buy up-to-date books and charts to put in each school. Put temperance books in your public libraries. Do something for the children, and do it now.

It was voted to send a letter of sympathy to Mrs. Mary Freer of Milton, who is ill.

Mrs. Ambrose of Clintondale told of the lasting impression Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, our late state national president, made on her at the world's convention held in Brooklyn. She said it seemed too bad that the people outside the convention whom we wanted to reach were not allowed to hear the good things.

Mrs. C. L. Palmer of Kingston gave the report of the national W. C. T. U. convention held at Asbury Park. Since this report was fully published some time ago in The Freeman, I will not report it at this time.

A W. C. T. U. clinic was then held during which we found the organizations are subject to disease as well as individuals. Mrs. Stevens of Gardiner said that when women think all there is to do in this organization is to sign the pledge and pay fifty cents a year dues, they are in a fair way to become paralyzed. A good electrical address like Miss Tinling's on attendance at some stirring convention like the world's or national, are good remedies for this disease.

An excellent paper on intermittent fever was sent, written by Mrs. Young of Milton. This is the condition when we get tired of all outside work and seem to be discouraged, this is lack of consecration.

After this comes heart failure, which subject was ably discussed by Mrs. Graham Hurd of Clintondale. Here we find a little more prayer and more willingness to be about our Father's business is necessary.

Miss Alice Kiersted then spoke on dyspepsia. She thought that if each member would do the things she was able to do and if all worked together in the unions, this disease could be avoided.

Miss Tinling told of a union which was called Mary Weeks Union. The president was Mary Weeks, so was the secretary and treasurer. She said this was a case of starvation in a union, since its membership had gradually dwindled down to one. When a union becomes so weak its members can scarcely get out to do anything, even entertain a speaker, it is gradually starving. Searching the scriptures and more earnest prayer are good foods in this case.

Mrs. Bell spoke briefly on the subject of the peace.

Mrs. Edward Lampman introduced the little ones at this time. They certainly did credit to their leader. The program is as follows:

Song, "Happy is the Ocean."
Three Girls.
Recitation, "What to Drink."
Donald Snyder.
Solo, "Does it Pay?"
Dorothy Potter.
Recitation. "The Temperance Boy."
Frank Terwilliger.
Dialogue, "Cider Drinking."
Jacquelin and Dorr Monroe.
Recitation, "Mother Goose Up-to-Date" ..... A Boy
Recitation ..... Clarence Freer
Solo ..... Miss Gillette

Mrs. F. M. Bjorkman gave us a convincing address on woman suffrage.

The evening service was one long to be remembered, as it was filled with good things. An orchestra, consisting of Mrs. Gillette, organist; Miss Nellie Ellsworth, violinist, and William A. Vanderveer, cornetist, rendered excellent music. A well trained male quartet sang. Mrs. Bull sang a solo. Recitation by Ella LaPine. The scripture lesson was read by the Rev. John Muyskens, Jr. The Rev. G. F. Snyder offered prayer. Solo, J. U. Gillette.

Miss Tinling then gave the address of the evening. She said that apathy was hindering the coming of the kingdom more than any other one thing. Indifference is what is the matter with us today. She then told of Dante's trip to hades. There he found people who live without blame and without praise. They are for themselves. They could not make up their minds, so they are destined to eternal oblivion. There was such a long train of them that he could hardly believe it. The fight for national constitutional prohibition is now on. We don't dare be indifferent to it. So many people have a hobble in their gait, they are afraid of offending the whiskey men for fear they will win and they are afraid to offend the temperance forces for fear they will win, so they have a hobble in their gait. She told of a duke who lead his army from behind because it was less exciting. Our race is deteriorating because we have licensed the liquor traffic. The children of drinking parents are liable to be defective both mentally and physically. Insurance agencies are not taking excessive drinkers. Let us fight now while we may before it is forever too late. We may all have a crown of glory that fadeth not away.

Thursday Morning.

Devotional, led by Mrs. Helen Palmer of Plattekill. An exchange of thought was then conducted by the different unions. It was found all were doing excellent work despite discouragements.

Our hearts were now saddened as our thoughts were turned to the loss of our dear departed leader, Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens.

Mrs. Bull sang a solo. Miss Kiersted led in prayer and Mrs. Stevens read a selection, all in memory of our departed leader.

Miss Anna Birdsall read "Sleep Well, Brave Heart."

The Rev. G. F. Snyder was then introduced. He said in part: Constitutional prohibition is the greatest national issue of the day. I believe in total abstinence for the individual and prohibition for the state. We can not pass a sinful issue without sinners. Alcohol kills as many every year as were killed in all the wars for 2,300 years. The saloon is 10,000 times more destructive than all the wars of the world. No one can tell the loss of character except God himself. If we ever rid the people of this curse we must make it a constitutional law to prohibit the manufacture and sale of all liquor.

In speaking of personal liberty, he said there can be no such thing when it interferes with the highest development of the race. Someone has said why don't God strike out the saloons with a flash of lightning. Well, God has the lightning and all He wants is the conducters. We need daily temperance papers. We see a change in sentiment. In 1906 five millions dollars were spent for new churches and fourteen and a half millions for saloons and breweries. In 1912, six years later, fifteen millions were spent for new churches and three millions for saloons and breweries. We are now in the death grapple, it is either dry or die.

Miss Anna Birdsall conducted a Bible reading. She named the different groups of Christians in the first century, showing the similarity between them and us. There were five circles, the first and outer circle consisting of the 500, all the Christians who saw Christ after the resurrection; over them we write the word faith. Next were the seventy, over them we write the word service. Third, we find the twelve; over them we write the word disciples. Inside of this we find the three, Peter, James and John; over these the word fellowship. The union circle contains just one John; over him we write the word love. In our unions at the present time there are too many in the outer circle, too few in the inner. In the inner circle we find Frances Willard. Now she knows the full meaning of those last words: "How beautiful to be with God." We see her joined by our late president and comrade beckoning to us and saying, "Onward Christian women, on to victory."

Mrs. Crispell then conducted the T hour.

Reading, Miss Anna Crook, of Dry Brook.

Solo, Mrs. Harry Mabie of Port Ewen.

Reading, Mrs. Samuel Tinnie of Port Ewen.

Mrs. Crispell gave an excellent talk.

Resolutions were passed dealing with many subjects of importance.

Thus ended one of the most instructive institutes we ever held.

The hospitality of the Port Ewen people is unsurpassed.

Fine Saving Chances at Planthaber's Saturday

Our large, fresh stocks, as well as our well-known moderate prices, will be a great incentive to buy Groceries, Meats and Provisions here Saturday. In many instances, elsewhere, if the variety is restricted, there is often a temptation to select what is not really satisfactory for the sake of "saving." You are not at such a disadvantage here. Our week-end supply of food articles is bountiful. Better qualities are not offered anywhere. In fact, we were never better prepared to fill the public food demands than we are this week.

We're satisfied to take just enough profit on the goods sold Saturdays to a little more than pay for our store maintenance, which goes to prove what we have often said before—that we're not profit-hungry.

Mrs. Edward Lampman introduced the little ones at this time. They certainly did credit to their leader. The program is as follows:

Song, "Happy is the Ocean."
Three Girls.
Recitation, "What to Drink."
Donald Snyder.
Solo, "Does it Pay?"
Dorothy Potter.
Recitation. "The Temperance Boy."
Frank Terwilliger.
Dialogue, "Cider Drinking."
Jacquelin and Dorr Monroe.
Recitation, "Mother Goose Up-to-Date" ..... A Boy
Recitation ..... Clarence Freer
Solo ..... Miss Gillette

Mrs. F. M. Bjorkman gave us a convincing address on woman suffrage.

The evening service was one long to be remembered, as it was filled with good things. An orchestra, consisting of Mrs. Gillette, organist; Miss Nellie Ellsworth, violinist, and William A. Vanderveer, cornetist, rendered excellent music. A well trained male quartet sang. Mrs. Bull sang a solo. Recitation by Ella LaPine. The scripture lesson was read by the Rev. John Muyskens, Jr. The Rev. G. F. Snyder offered prayer. Solo, J. U. Gillette.

Miss Tinling then gave the address of the evening. She said that apathy was hindering the coming of the kingdom more than any other one thing. Indifference is what is the matter with us today. She then told of Dante's trip to hades. There he found people who live without blame and without praise. They are for themselves. They could not make up their minds, so they are destined to eternal oblivion. There was such a long train of them that he could hardly believe it. The fight for national constitutional prohibition is now on. We don't dare be indifferent to it. So many people have a hobble in their gait, they are afraid of offending the whiskey men for fear they will win and they are afraid to offend the temperance forces for fear they will win, so they have a hobble in their gait. She told of a duke who lead his army from behind because it was less exciting. Our race is deteriorating because we have licensed the liquor traffic. The children of drinking parents are liable to be defective both mentally and physically. Insurance agencies are not taking excessive drinkers. Let us fight now while we may before it is forever too late. We may all have a crown of glory that fadeth not away.

Thursday Morning.

Devotional, led by Mrs. Helen Palmer of Plattekill. An exchange of thought was then conducted by the different unions. It was found all were doing excellent work despite discouragements.

Our hearts were now saddened as our thoughts were turned to the loss of our dear departed leader, Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens.

Mrs. Bull sang a solo. Miss Kiersted led in prayer and Mrs. Stevens read a selection, all in memory of our departed leader.

Miss Anna Birdsall read "Sleep Well, Brave Heart."

The Rev. G. F. Snyder was then introduced. He said in part: Constitutional prohibition is the greatest national issue of the day. I believe in total abstinence for the individual and prohibition for the state. We can not pass a sinful issue without sinners. Alcohol kills as many every year as were killed in all the wars for 2,300 years. The saloon is 10,000 times more destructive than all the wars of the world. No one can tell the loss of character except God himself. If we ever rid the people of this curse we must make it a constitutional law to prohibit the manufacture and sale of all liquor.

In speaking of personal liberty, he said there can be no such thing when it interferes with the highest development of the race. Someone has said why don't God strike out the saloons with a flash of lightning. Well, God has the lightning and all He wants is the conducters. We need daily temperance papers. We see a change in sentiment. In 1906 five millions dollars were spent for new churches and fourteen and a half millions for saloons and breweries. In 1912, six years later, fifteen millions were spent for new churches and three millions for saloons and breweries. We are now in the death grapple, it is either dry or die.

Miss Anna Birdsall conducted a Bible reading. She named the different groups of Christians in the first century, showing the similarity between them and us. There were five circles, the first and outer circle consisting of the 500, all the Christians who saw Christ after the resurrection; over them we write the word faith. Next were the seventy, over them we write the word service. Third, we find the twelve; over them we write the word disciples. Inside of this we find the three, Peter, James and John; over these the word fellowship. The union circle contains just one John; over him we write the word love. In our unions at the present time there are too many in the outer circle, too few in the inner. In the inner circle we find Frances Willard. Now she knows the full meaning of those last words: "How beautiful to be with God." We see her joined by our late president and comrade beckoning to us and saying, "Onward Christian women, on to victory."

Mrs. Crispell then conducted the T hour.

Reading, Miss Anna Crook, of Dry Brook.

Solo, Mrs. Harry Mabie of Port Ewen.

Reading, Mrs. Samuel Tinnie of Port Ewen.

Mrs. Crispell gave an excellent talk.

Resolutions were passed dealing with many subjects of importance.

Thus ended one of the most instructive institutes we ever held.

The hospitality of the Port Ewen people is unsurpassed.

Fine Saving Chances at Planthaber's Saturday

Our large, fresh stocks, as well as our well-known moderate prices, will be a great incentive to buy Groceries, Meats and Provisions here Saturday. In many instances, elsewhere, if the variety is restricted, there is often a temptation to select what is not really satisfactory for the sake of "saving." You are not at such a disadvantage here. Our week-end supply of food articles is bountiful. Better qualities are not offered anywhere. In fact, we were never better prepared to fill the public food demands than we are this week.

We're satisfied to take just enough profit on the goods sold Saturdays to a little more than pay for our store maintenance, which goes to prove what we have often said before—that we're not profit-hungry.

We feel that to pay what we shall owe to the generosity and loyal store friendship of those who may become our patrons will keep us busy pushing this enterprise further along the road of progress.

We feel that to pay what we shall owe to the generosity and loyal store friendship of those who may become our patrons will keep us busy pushing this enterprise further along the road of progress.

Restored to His Rights

By LOUISE B. CUMMINGS

Robert Wykoff has no remembrance of anything that occurred before he was five years old, except being caressed by a woman who seemed to love him very dearly, and even this is scarcely a memory with him. After that he became cognizant of being a member of a family. A man whom he understood to be his father, a woman whom he understood to be his mother gave him what he needed, especially clothes, which were much better than those of the other children of the household. When Robert was eleven years old he was sent to a boarding school. There he associated with boys who were much more refined, much better dressed, than those he had been accustomed to. When he went home at vacation he became ashamed of his parents and his brothers and sisters. They were of a different stamp from those he had seen at school.

Bob did not go home again after that during vacations. He preferred to remain at school. His parents and brothers and sisters did not manifest much affection for him, and he cared little about them. It seemed as if he and they were a different kind of people. And he wondered why this was so. Why had he always been dressed like a gentleman while they wore rough clothes?

The school he attended was of a very good class, but its principal was more interested in making money than in the welfare of the boys. Robert was constantly being punished for some petty offense or for leading his schoolmates to rebel against the tyranny of the principal. The latter received plenty of money for his pupils' tuition to warrant giving them every comfort, including excellent food, but he skimped them in all possible ways.

One day when the food had become so bad that the boys could stand it no longer Bob led them into an old fashioned "barring out," such as at times had occurred in English schools before the middle of the nineteenth century. They bought provisions with spending money procured from home, took possession of the schoolroom and locked the doors. The rebellion did not last long, for a door was broken down. The principal entered and soon quieted the meeting. He questioned the boys as to their leader, but none of them would tell, and he proposed to punish all alike, whereupon Robert assumed the whole responsibility and was expelled from the school.

By this time Robert was fifteen years old, and rather than go back home he resolved to make his own living. Between a mercantile life and farming he chose the latter, and since the season for planting was at hand he found a place as a farm hand. He went to work with a will, rejoicing in the change from the tyrannies of the school and his unpleasant home to a life wherein he lived almost entirely out of doors, attending to cattle, planting and gathering in crops.

This period Bob Wykoff remembers as the happiest of his life, for here was born a boy's love for Molly Erskine, a little girl he one day saw trudging along a road with some milk she was going to deliver to a neighbor. He carried her milk for her and many another burden from that time forward for three years. Then he was eighteen years old and she was fifteen.

One day Bob was sitting on a mowing machine driving a pair of horses over some rough ground when he saw a man coming toward him. When he came near enough Bob recognized his father. He had been hunting the boy for a month and had traced him from the school he had left long before. He told Bob that he was not his father, but that he came of wealthy stock and his grandfather had died and he was heir to several million dollars. Bob said that didn't make any difference with his finishing his job and remained on his machine till it was time to quit.

Bob then went to the farmhouse, bid goodby to his employers, found Molly Erskine and told her of the great change in his life. She cried when he parted with her, but he assured her that he would come back to her.

Bob's conductor told him on the way that he was the son of parents who had been disowned by his mother's father because they had married contrary to his will. His father had died soon after the marriage, and his mother, who had nothing to live on, was taken back by her father on condition that she come alone. Bob was then put under the care of persons who agreed for a consideration to take care of him. On the death of his grandfather, being the only male descendant, he was made the old man's heir.

When Bob reached his home he was taken into the arms of the woman he remembered as belonging to his babyhood. He had occupied an unnatural position for fourteen years and was now suddenly made the possessor of unbounded luxuries.

One day Molly Erskine was standing in the door of her father's farm when a young man drove up behind a spanking team and, throwing the reins to a lackey, leaped from the wagon and caught her in his arms. Bob claimed her for his wife. But she refused. She said that he had entered a sphere in which he was born and in which she would not follow him lest he should become ashamed of her. But Bob would not release her, though he consented that she should go to a girls' school for three years. When she had finished her education they were married, and Bob did not have any reason to be ashamed of his wife.

Engagement Etiquette.

An engaged girl should write to her personal friends to tell them the news, while her mother writes to older relatives and friends.

Letters of congratulation in answer to these should be written as soon as possible.

Young girls do not write to their men friends to congratulate them on an engagement. They either congratulate them personally or not at all.

It is considered extremely bad form for engaged couples to be too demonstrative in public. They should try to be as natural and unaffected as possible, so as to avoid causing embarrassment to others.

The engagement ring should always be worn once it has been placed in position. It is useful as a friendly warning to any unwary and oversusceptible admirers.

Those who invite engaged couples to their houses should make a point of sending them down to dinner together and of doing all in their power to show that they recognize and approve of the engagement.

A girl may dance practically as often as she pleases with her fiance, although, of course, she will do well not to forget entirely all her old friends in this respect.

It is the girl's privilege to ask any friends she likes to act as her bridesmaids, but it is an understood thing that some relative of the bridegroom shall be among the number.

Friends of a bridegroom who are unacquainted with the bride's family send their wedding presents to him, and he forwards them to the bride's mother, so that they may be on view with the other presents on the wedding day.

Etiquette Notes.

If you return to live in a neighborhood again after a long absence call on all your friends without waiting for them to call on you first.

If you are inviting friends who have visitors staying with them to your house it is usual to include the visitors in the invitation except in the case of a dinner, when you need not necessarily do so. It is not necessary to call on them first, as they are only asked out of compliment to their hostess.

If at a dinner party there is one extra lady the hostess generally goes in by herself, following behind the last couple.

A hostess should always allow a visitor to enter the carriage before her when going for a drive.

When an engagement is announced write your congratulations or give them in person to the prospective bride and bridegroom as soon as possible.

When In a Street Car.

Upon entering a street car those who know how to behave will take a seat quietly, without trying to attract attention or in any manner making themselves conspicuous. Names should not be mentioned; gossip should be strictly avoided; a pleasant acknowledgment of small courtesies, such as a move to permit of passing and all those small things that in themselves seem of no importance, but in the aggregate speak loudly of the perfection of good breeding or the lack of it, as the case may be.

Inquisitive curiosity, talking over private affairs, making unpleasant remarks within hearing of those talked about—these all show the observer that politeness, which is etiquette, is unknown in that quarter.

Entering the Motor.

If a gentleman is his own chauffeur he may get in, offer his hand to the lady who accompanies him and help her into the car, wrapping her with the lap robe, etc., before taking his own seat. Different cases require different methods of meeting circumstances, and it is not well bred to haggle over such small things. Accept whatever is done without comment and be pleasant over any little mishap that may seem different.

After Dinner Coffee.

At a family meal the after dinner coffee may be served before leaving the table, but when guests are present it is customary to have the coffee passed on a tray after the ladies have returned to the drawing room. This is done, as a general rule, in most families. The coffee is in small cups, with coffee spoons laid on the saucers. A sugar bowl and tongs accompany the service.

Moderate Praise.

It is quite right to praise where praise is due. But don't overdo it, as the man did who, when praising a preacher for the blessings received through his ministrations, said, "Before you came to this place we cared for neither God nor the devil, but through listening to your splendid preaching we have learned to love them both."

Signing One's Name.

The prefix should not be signed with one's name unless the person to whom one writes does not know whether she be married or single. If the writer is married she should sign her Christian and surname and below her signature or in the lower left hand corner of the sheet write her husband's name, with the prefix "Mrs."

Virtue in Self-Denial.

Begin by denying yourself, and by and by you forget yourself. The kindness which was at first just a duty becomes a pleasure and a joy. Self-denial becomes glorified into self-forgetfulness.—Brooke Herford.

A Complete Line $850 to $1050

Detroiter—"Makes Life Worth Living"

A wonderful record which backs up every Detroiter and guarantees a record-breaking season is a tabulation that covers the twelve months from January, 1913, to January, 1914, and embraces every Detroiter car in operation (not a picked few.) It shows that the THOUSANDS OF DETROITERS NOW IN USE AVERAGE ONLY $3.81 PER YEAR APIECE FOR REPAIR PARTS.

It is a record made possible only by a method of building which is better and a design which has no equal among cars of this class.

People have come to realize only too well the common weaknesses of the popular priced cars. Those sagging axles, those stripped pinions, those vibration-racked motors, those frames and transmissions bumped half out of commission by poor spring suspension.

The Detroiter full-floating axle is designed to withstand 2,000 pounds of overload. The platform rear spring needs no shock absorbers. The 32 horsepower, long-stroke motor, in comparison to the light weight of the car is more powerful than even the big 60's, with their massive loads to carry.

Beauty? Note the exquisite proportions of the new 1914 touring car; or the snappy, jaunty lines of the new roadster.

Power? A new and bigger motor (3½ x 5) carries this light weight vehicle without exertion anywhere its wheels can find traction. We do not believe there is an automobile made, four or six, big or little, $1,000 or $5,000, that can out-pull it.

Convenience? The new Detroiter-Remy electric starting and lighting system is the cleanest installation ever devised, and it adds less than 40 pounds to weight of car.

Simplicity? All controls at your fingers' ends, on the dash.

Every sterling feature that made the Detroiter great is retained: platform springs, full floating rear axle, ball bearings throughout—such features as only the costliest cars have ever before specified.

The greatest models of their class yet produced are these new Detroiters.

See them, and ride in them!

$925

Completely Equipped

Streamline—Bullnose—32 horsepower—the 1914 Detroiter challenges comparison in appearance and quality with even the most expensive makes of Fours. There is not an ungainly angle in it; graceful as a bird's wing, the crowned-fenders melt away the angularity of guards. With the added horse-power of its expensive ball bearings, the motor is indomitable. For five hundred dollars more one buys not a whit better construction—more honest material, more sterling workmanship.

Upon entering a street car those who know how to behave will take a seat quietly, without trying to attract attention or in any manner making themselves conspicuous. Names should not be mentioned; gossip should be strictly avoided; a pleasant acknowledgment of small courtesies, such as a move to permit of passing and all those small things that in themselves seem of no importance, but in the aggregate speak loudly of the perfection of good breeding or the lack of it, as the case may be.

Inquisitive curiosity, talking over private affairs, making unpleasant remarks within hearing of those talked about—these all show the observer that politeness, which is etiquette, is unknown in that quarter.

Entering the Motor.

If a gentleman is his own chauffeur he may get in, offer his hand to the lady who accompanies him and help her into the car, wrapping her with the lap robe, etc., before taking his own seat. Different cases require different methods of meeting circumstances, and it is not well bred to haggle over such small things. Accept whatever is done without comment and be pleasant over any little mishap that may seem different.

After Dinner Coffee.

At a family meal the after dinner coffee may be served before leaving the table, but when guests are present it is customary to have the coffee passed on a tray after the ladies have returned to the drawing room. This is done, as a general rule, in most families. The coffee is in small cups, with coffee spoons laid on the saucers. A sugar bowl and tongs accompany the service.

Moderate Praise.

It is quite right to praise where praise is due. But don't overdo it, as the man did who, when praising a preacher for the blessings received through his ministrations, said, "Before you came to this place we cared for neither God nor the devil, but through listening to your splendid preaching we have learned to love them both."

Signing One's Name.

The prefix should not be signed with one's name unless the person to whom one writes does not know whether she be married or single. If the writer is married she should sign her Christian and surname and below her signature or in the lower left hand corner of the sheet write her husband's name, with the prefix "Mrs."

Virtue in Self-Denial.

Begin by denying yourself, and by and by you forget yourself. The kindness which was at first just a duty becomes a pleasure and a joy. Self-denial becomes glorified into self-forgetfulness.—Brooke Herford.

Detroiter—"Makes Life Worth Living"

A wonderful record which backs up every Detroiter and guarantees a record-breaking season is a tabulation that covers the twelve months from January, 1913, to January, 1914, and embraces every Detroiter car in operation (not a picked few.) It shows that the THOUSANDS OF DETROITERS NOW IN USE AVERAGE ONLY $3.81 PER YEAR APIECE FOR REPAIR PARTS.

It is a record made possible only by a method of building which is better and a design which has no equal among cars of this class.

People have come to realize only too well the common weaknesses of the popular priced cars. Those sagging axles, those stripped pinions, those vibration-racked motors, those frames and transmissions bumped half out of commission by poor spring suspension.

The Detroiter full-floating axle is designed to withstand 2,000 pounds of overload. The platform rear spring needs no shock absorbers. The 32 horsepower, long-stroke motor, in comparison to the light weight of the car is more powerful than even the big 60's, with their massive loads to carry.

Beauty? Note the exquisite proportions of the new 1914 touring car; or the snappy, jaunty lines of the new roadster.

Power? A new and bigger motor (3½ x 5) carries this light weight vehicle without exertion anywhere its wheels can find traction. We do not believe there is an automobile made, four or six, big or little, $1,000 or $5,000, that can out-pull it.

Convenience? The new Detroiter-Remy electric starting and lighting system is the cleanest installation ever devised, and it adds less than 40 pounds to weight of car.

Simplicity? All controls at your fingers' ends, on the dash.

Every sterling feature that made the Detroiter great is retained: platform springs, full floating rear axle, ball bearings throughout—such features as only the costliest cars have ever before specified.

The greatest models of their class yet produced are these new Detroiters.

See them, and ride in them!

$925

Completely Equipped

Streamline—Bullnose—32 horsepower—the 1914 Detroiter challenges comparison in appearance and quality with even the most expensive makes of Fours. There is not an ungainly angle in it; graceful as a bird's wing, the crowned fenders melt away the angularity of guards. With the added horse-power of its expensive ball bearings, the motor is indomitable. For five hundred dollars more one buys not a whit better construction—more honest material, more sterling workmanship.

COLONIAL CAMP WON 17 TO 12

The members of Colonial Camp, Spanish War Veterans, went to Newburgh on Thursday evening to see their team wallop the comrades of Hudson B. Moore Camp, by the score of 17 to 12. The game was the result of the tie played here some weeks ago by the two teams, and it resulted, as usual, in favor of the Kingstonians. Many of the local vets had their wives and sweethearts with them and were royally entertained by the Women's Auxiliary of Moore Camp. The game was fast from start to finish. Baylor starred in clever blocking but Sam Messinger made a basket every time he got his hands on the ball. In fact, some of the Newburgh spectators said they had not seen such clean basketball shooting since the days of Toby Matthews. After the game a fine spread was given the visitors by the Women's Auxiliary and all returned home on the 2 o'clock train delighted with the entertainment afforded by the Newburgh contingent. Bill Cohen was to have played center for the locals but missed the train which took the team down early for preliminary practice and was not permitted to play when he did arrive, as a substitute had already warmed up and refused to be removed. Frank Thompson, Peter J. Halloran, John Mullen and David Boyd held up their end of the game in inimitable form.

LININGS

Consider this matter of coat linings. A full lined coat means a double wall of cloth between you and coolness, to say nothing of the extra weight.

In hot weather, what's the use? We have vests with backs you can almost see through. We have coats half-lined, quarter-lined, eighth-lined and so on down the line of fractions.

The main point is, this feature reduces the weight of the garment and increases the ventilation. It's like the difference between a straw hat and a derby.

Come in and investigate our Hickey-Freeman-Quality suits. You will find them a revelation in hot weather tailoring.

COLONIAL CAMP WON 17 TO 12

The members of Colonial Camp, Spanish War Veterans, went to Newburgh on Thursday evening to see their team wallop the comrades of Hudson B. Moore Camp, by the score of 17 to 12. The game was the result of the tie played here some weeks ago by the two teams, and it resulted, as usual, in favor of the Kingstonians. Many of the local vets had their wives and sweethearts with them and were royally entertained by the Women's Auxiliary of Moore Camp. The game was fast from start to finish. Baylor starred in clever blocking but Sam Messinger made a basket every time he got his hands on the ball. In fact, some of the Newburgh spectators said they had not seen such clean basketball shooting since the days of Toby Matthews. After the game a fine spread was given the visitors by the Women's Auxiliary and all returned home on the 2 o'clock train delighted with the entertainment afforded by the Newburgh contingent. Bill Cohen was to have played center for the locals but missed the train which took the team down early for preliminary practice and was not permitted to play when he did arrive, as a substitute had already warmed up and refused to be removed. Frank Thompson, Peter J. Halloran, John Mullen and David Boyd held up their end of the game in inimitable form.

LININGS

Consider this matter of coat linings. A full lined coat means a double wall of cloth between you and coolness, to say nothing of the extra weight.

In hot weather, what's the use? We have vests with backs you can almost see through. We have coats half-lined, quarter-lined, eighth-lined and so on down the line of fractions.

The main point is, this feature reduces the weight of the garment and increases the ventilation. It's like the difference between a straw hat and a derby.

Come in and investigate our Hickey-Freeman-Quality suits. You will find them a revelation in hot weather tailoring.

TWO AVIATORS CRUSHED TO DEATH

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 15.—Another British army officer lost his life in a double fatality today. Lieut. Empson and his mechanic, named Cudmore, were killed when the aeroplane in which they were making a flight over the Seaton Golf Course struck a hedge and was overturned. The bi-plane was descending at the time. Both men were crushed to death.

The aviation tragedy occurred shortly after the start of the Royal Flying Corps on an air cruise to York from Seaton, the first long distance flight ever undertaken by the British aerial fleet.

Shortly after the machines got away they ran into a fog and endeavored to descend at various points. It was while Lieut. Empson was guiding his machine to the ground that he struck the hedge.

Five other machines suffered damage by colliding with trees and hedges, but their helmsmen escaped injuries.

TWO AVIATORS CRUSHED TO DEATH

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 15.—Another British army officer lost his life in a double fatality today. Lieut. Empson and his mechanic, named Cudmore, were killed when the aeroplane in which they were making a flight over the Seaton Golf Course struck a hedge and was overturned. The bi-plane was descending at the time. Both men were crushed to death.

The aviation tragedy occurred shortly after the start of the Royal Flying Corps on an air cruise to York from Seaton, the first long distance flight ever undertaken by the British aerial fleet.

Shortly after the machines got away they ran into a fog and endeavored to descend at various points. It was while Lieut. Empson was guiding his machine to the ground that he struck the hedge.

Five other machines suffered damage by colliding with trees and hedges, but their helmsmen escaped injuries.

VALLON'S STORY CONTRADICTORY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 15.—Harry Vallon, whose testimony is relied upon in great measure by District Attorney Whitman to convict ex-Lieut. Charles Becker of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was trapped into many important contradictions by Attorney Manton, counsel for the defense today. The cross-examination of Vallon, following his direct testimony in which he had corroborated in most points the stories told by "Bald Jack" Rose, and "Bridgie" Webber was the most satisfactory inning that the defense had yet had.

Vallon on cross-examination not only contradicted testimony that he had given at the first trial, but he also contradicted testimony that Webber had given on the stand yesterday.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 15.—The upward price movement which began yesterday was continued at the opening of the stock market today. United States Steel common acted as the leader, advancing ⅝ on fairly large trading. Missouri Pacific rose ⅜ to 19⅛, reflecting increased confidence in the successful arrangements made for the meeting notes which will soon fall due. There was good demand for Interborough Pfd. on the strength of dividend rumors. This issue rose ⅝. Mexican Petroleum was again influenced by developments in the Mexican situation, particularly by assurances by the Constitutionalist leaders that all property in the oil fields owned by foreigners would be protected. American Can was unusually active, rising ¾. Buying of this stock of late has been attributed to "inside interests," who expect the government dissolution suit against the company to be decided against the plaintiff. Canadian Pacific followed its London lead advancing ¾ and a gain of ½ was scored in Reading. Amalgamated Copper was ¼ higher and good fractional gains were also made by Western Union, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, New York, New Haven & Hartford, Erie, Chesapeake & Ohio, American Smelting and American Car and Foundry. The curb was strong. Americans in London were strong on professional dealings.

A stronger tone prevailed in the late forenoon. Amalgamated Copper, United States Steel Common, Southern Pacific and Lehigh Valley advanced ⅛. Canadian Pacific sold at 193¾, an advance of ½. Reading moved up ¼. Other prices held firm. Call money loaning at 1¾ per cent.

Trading was light in the last hour and price movements were narrow. Steel held at 61½, the same price at which it sold at noon, and Erie and Missouri Pacific and a number of others were unchanged. The tone was quiet. Reading was in fair demand, crossing 166 for a net gain of ½ on the day.

The New York stock market closed steady, government bonds unchanged, other bonds steady.

A Forgetful Man.

Olan Coutant of Ulster Park left some packages somewhere in this city Thursday and has forgotten where he left them. He would be grateful for information of their whereabouts.

Minuteness of Electrons.

Crookes, in his vacuum tubes around 1880, tore matter by means of very high potential electrical disruptive discharges into particles so inconceivably minute that he called them matter in the ultra gaseous, or fourth state.

In 1899 the modern master among minds proved these particles to be themselves electricity. Rutherford, Ramsay, Becquerel, Soddy, the Curies, Larmor and others confirmed the mighty discovery. Then came Robert Andrews Millikan, University of Chicago, in 1911, and astonished every scientific man in the world by actually isolating and weighing one of these excessively minute entities.

This was at once conceded to be the greatest work of man since Newton discovered how to use infinitesimals. Of these particles, if they could be forced to lie side by side in contact—impossible by man—a row one inch long would contain 12,700,000,000,000. They are known to be pure electricity. They are called electrons, and nothing exists but electrons.—Edgar Lucien Larkin in New York American.

A Revelation to Cricketers.

The technique of baseball is profoundly interesting to the student of the dynamics of games. Some years ago the bowling, or rather "pitching," was revolutionized. It was then made legal to throw the ball. Hence the wonderful armor which the catcher wears. But mere pace soon gave way to graduated pace and swerving. Never in the history of sport has the human hand shown such control over an implement as the hand of a pitcher over the flight of the ball. Much superstition has gathered round this and many fabulous performances, corkscrew swerves, swerves reversed, jumping balls, and so forth, are on the lips of crowds. Being allowed no run, as the bowler is at cricket, the pitcher has brought to a fine art the mechanism of position and delivery. The same is true of the batter, who has to deal with full pitches only, very different from bouncing balls. The attitudes of these men are a revelation to cricketers.—London Spectator.

Ulster Co. Y. P. B. Song.

The recitation given by Miss Cronk at the W. C. T. U. Institute in Port Ewen was as follows:

Tune—"Watch on the Rhine."

1 We come, we come, the Y. P. B.,
From Ulster County, don't you see?
The call to service we have heard
Aud buckled on the temperance sword.
Oh! Comrades, we will win the day
For we are in the fight to stay.
We're out for prohibition, don't you see?
We are the Ulster County Y. P. B.

2 We face the foe with spirits brave
And fight our Empire State to save;
And o'er and o'er the words repeat,
That God can never know defeat.
And tho' the battle's fierce and long,
Our hearts are true, our faith is strong.
We're out for prohibition, don't you see?
We are the Ulster County Y. P. B.

3 And when at last the victory's won.
The fight has only just begun;
Again to battle we must go,
For laws must be enforced, you know.
We'll work and pray and smile and vote,
And tell our foes to all take note—
Prohibition does prohibit! Don't you see?
We are the Ulster County Y. P. B.

VALLON'S STORY CONTRADICTORY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 15.—Harry Vallon, whose testimony is relied upon in great measure by District Attorney Whitman to convict ex-Lieut. Charles Becker of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was trapped into many important contradictions by Attorney Manton, counsel for the defense today. The cross-examination of Vallon, following his direct testimony in which he had corroborated in most points the stories told by "Bald Jack" Rose, and "Bridgie" Webber was the most satisfactory inning that the defense had yet had.

Vallon on cross-examination not only contradicted testimony that he had given at the first trial, but he also contradicted testimony that Webber had given on the stand yesterday.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 15.—The upward price movement which began yesterday was continued at the opening of the stock market today. United States Steel common acted as the leader, advancing ⅝ on fairly large trading. Missouri Pacific rose ⅝ to 19⅛, reflecting increased confidence in the successful arrangements made for the meeting notes which will soon fall due. There was good demand for Interborough Pfd. on the strength of dividend rumors. This issue rose ⅝. Mexican Petroleum was again influenced by developments in the Mexican situation, particularly by assurances by the Constitutionalist leaders that all property in the oil fields owned by foreigners would be protected. American Can was unusually active, rising ¾. Buying of this stock of late has been attributed to "inside interests," who expect the government dissolution suit against the company to be decided against the plaintiff. Canadian Pacific followed its London lead advancing ¾ and a gain of ½ was scored in Reading. Amalgamated Copper was ¼ higher and good fractional gains were also made by Western Union, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, New York, New Haven & Hartford, Erie, Chesapeake & Ohio, American Smelting and American Car and Foundry. The curb was strong. Americans in London were strong on professional dealings.

A stronger tone prevailed in the late forenoon. Amalgamated Copper, United States Steel Common, Southern Pacific and Lehigh Valley advanced ¼. Canadian Pacific sold at 193¾, an advance of ½. Reading moved up ¼. Other prices held firm. Call money loaning at 1¾ per cent.

Trading was light in the last hour and price movements were narrow. Steel held at 61½, the same price at which it sold at noon, and Erie and Missouri Pacific and a number of others were unchanged. The tone was quiet. Reading was in fair demand, crossing 166 for a net gain of ½ on the day.

The New York stock market closed steady, government bonds unchanged, other bonds steady.

A Forgetful Man.

Olan Coutant of Ulster Park left some packages somewhere in this city Thursday and has forgotten where he left them. He would be grateful for information of their whereabouts.

Minuteness of Electrons.

Crookes, in his vacuum tubes around 1880, tore matter by means of very high potential electrical disruptive discharges into particles so inconceivably minute that he called them matter in the ultra gaseous, or fourth state.

In 1899 the modern master among minds proved these particles to be themselves electricity. Rutherford, Ramsay, Becquerel, Soddy, the Curies, Larmor and others confirmed the mighty discovery. Then came Robert Andrews Millikan, University of Chicago, in 1911, and astonished every scientific man in the world by actually isolating and weighing one of these excessively minute entities.

This was at once conceded to be the greatest work of man since Newton discovered how to use infinitesimals. Of these particles, if they could be forced to lie side by side in contact—impossible by man—a row one inch long would contain 12,700,000,000,000. They are known to be pure electricity. They are called electrons, and nothing exists but electrons.—Edgar Lucien Larkin in New York American.

A Revelation to Cricketers.

The technique of baseball is profoundly interesting to the student of the dynamics of games. Some years ago the bowling, or rather "pitching," was revolutionized. It was then made legal to throw the ball. Hence the wonderful armor which the catcher wears. But mere pace soon gave way to graduated pace and swerving. Never in the history of sport has the human hand shown such control over an implement as the hand of a pitcher over the flight of the ball. Much superstition has gathered round this and many fabulous performances, corkscrew swerves, swerves reversed, jumping balls, and so forth, are on the lips of crowds. Being allowed no run, as the bowler is at cricket, the pitcher has brought to a fine art the mechanism of position and delivery. The same is true of the batter, who has to deal with full pitches only, very different from bouncing balls. The attitudes of these men are a revelation to cricketers.—London Spectator.

Ulster Co. Y. P. B. Song.

The recitation given by Miss Cronk at the W. C. T. U. Institute in Port Ewen was as follows:

Tune—"Watch on the Rhine."

1 We come, we come, the Y. P. B.,
From Ulster County, don't you see?
The call to service we have heard
Aud buckled on the temperance sword.
Oh! Comrades, we will win the day
For we are in the fight to stay.
We're out for prohibition, don't you see?
We are the Ulster County Y. P. B.

2 We face the foe with spirits brave
And fight our Empire State to save;
And o'er and o'er the words repeat,
That God can never know defeat.
And tho' the battle's fierce and long,
Our hearts are true, our faith is strong.
We're out for prohibition, don't you see?
We are the Ulster County Y. P. B.

3 And when at last the victory's won,
The fight has only just begun;
Again to battle we must go,
For laws must be enforced, you know.
We'll work and pray and smile and vote,
And tell our foes to all take note—
Prohibition does prohibit! Don't you see?
We are the Ulster County Y. P. B.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, May 15.—Christy Mathewson, the New York Giant pitcher, earns more money per hour than any other salaried man in the world.

Tris Speaker, of the Red Sox, gets a larger total salary than Matty, yet Speaker gets less than one-third as much per working hour as does Matty. President Woodrow Wilson, with his $75,000 a year, gets less than one-sixth as much for actual working hours as does Matty, and Elbert H. Gary, of the U. S. Steel Corporation, who is said to draw somethhing like $100,000 a year for his labors, gets less than one-fourth of Matty's hourly salary.

Mathewson is drawing $15,000 a year from the Giants. To earn this sum he is called upon to work only about two hours a day, and works only about one day in each four. At a high estimate, Matty will work in 40 complete games in a season, which, figured, at two hours per game, will mean that the time he actually works during a season is just 80 hours.

Simple arithmetic will prove that a man draw $15,000 a year for 80 hours' work will earn an average of $187.50 per hour, or more than $3 a minute.

Speaker's total salary for this year will be $18,500. But to earn this he must labor in 154 full games of two hours each. That makes a total of 308 hours that he must "toil," and gives him an average hourly earning capacity of a trifle over $60 an hour.

With President Wilson it's a different matter. He is supposed to be on the job during every working day in the year. And there are 313 such days each year. Wilson puts in an average day of eight hours each, but very often he works much longer than eight hours a day, and very often he works not only six but seven days a week, especially in such times as the Mexican crisis.

But allowing that Wilson puts in each year only 313 days of eight hours, it will figure up a total of 2,504 hours, giving him an hourly earning capacity of a trifle less than $30.

Gary puts in just about as much time as Wilson, 2,504 hours a year. For this he is said to be able to shake down the steel corporation for an annual salary of $100,000. This total divided by 2,504 hours gives him an hourly earning capacity of less than $40, against Matty's $187.50.

Next to Mathewson, Walter Johnson, the Senatorial pitcher, grabs off the large salary per hour honors. The speed king gets $12,500 a year for pitching about 40 games, of two hours each, which makes his hourly wage about $156.25.

After considering matters fore and aft, don't you think that the life of a big league ball player, especially one who has mastered the business of pitching, is nice and easy—and mighty lucrative?

Here is a little table showing the annual salary, the number of hours required, and the hourly wage of big league ball players, of high government officials and Elbert H. Gary, said to be the highest salaried man in the nation:

|---|---|---|---|
| Mathewson | $15,000 | 80 | $187.50 |

The Leading Piano Store

Different kinds of conscientiousness are found in different piano stores, and you can invariably judge the different degrees of conscientiousness by different degrees of prosperity. We are the most prosperous and widely known piano dealers in the Hudron River Valley, and we charge nothing for valuable, conscientious piano advice.

Experience teaches us that most people are better able to buy pianos than they imagine. The monthly instalments, which soon pay for a good piano, will go for things which only afford temporary pleasure if a contract is not signed with a reliable, trustworthy house like ours.
